DETAILED ACTION

The IDS received 10/7/2004 has been entered.

Election

Applicant's election of Group II, claims 2, 3, 5, 25, 26, 28 in the reply filed on 11/2/2006 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claims 1, 4, 6-24, 27, 29 are nonelected and thus are withdrawn from further consideration.

Claims 2, 3, 5, 25, 26, 28 are presented for examination on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 2, 3, 5, 25, 26, 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Neale et al. (Meeting abstract Am J Obs & Gyn 2001;185(6-s1) page S83, 22nd Annual Meeting of the Society for Maternal-Fetal Medicine).

Neale et al. teach a method for determining if a pregnant woman is at risk of developing preeclampsia, comprising: (a) culturing human trophoblast cells in the presence of (i) anti-Fas antibodies (line 4) and (ii) serum or plasma obtained from a pregnant woman to be assessed for risk of developing preeclampsia (line 4); (b) culturing an equivalent sample of human trophoblast cells under the same conditions as cells in (a) but in the absence of serum or plasma obtained from a pregnant woman to be assessed for risk of developing preeclampsia (control in line 4); and (c) comparing viability of cells cultured in (a) with the viability of cells cultured in (b), wherein if fewer cells cultured in (a) than cells cultured in (b) are viable, the woman is determined to be at risk of developing preeclampsia (lines 8-9); (d) culturing an equivalent sample of human trophoblast cells under the same conditions as cells in (a) but in the presence of serum or plasma obtained from a normal control (control in line 4); and (e) comparing viability of cells cultured in (a) with the viability of cells cultured in (d), wherein if fewer cells cultured in (a) than cells cultured in (d) are viable, the woman is at risk of developing preeclampsia (lines 14-16).

Art Unit: 1657

Therefore, the cited reference is deemed to anticipate the instant claims above.
